For the purpose of compliance with Government Code subsection 66001(d), the following information regarding AB 1600 fees is presented:

Every fifth year the local agency shall make all of the following findings with respect to that portion of the account or fund remaining unexpended, whether committed or uncommitted:

(A) Identify the purpose to which the fee is to be put.

The purpose of this fee is to ensure that development of cultural and artistic assets are financed by those whose development and revitalization diminishes the availability of the community's resources for those opportunities and contributes to community urbanization. All new residential development projects of five or more units, and all commercial, industrial, and public building development projects, with a building valuation of $500,000 or more shall be subject to the development impact fee.

Art in Public Places Program In-Lieu Fee

(B) Demonstrate a reasonable relationship between the fee and the purpose for which it is charged

The City and other governmental agencies have conducted numerous studies which indicate the nature and cost of the burden and impact placed on City facilities by new development. In addition, in Ehrlich v. City of Culver City (1996) 12 Cal. 4th 859, the California Supreme Court evaluated the Art in Public Places Program and the in lieu contribution and determined that the fee and its amount are permissible land-use regulations. These studies and other information show a certainty that as new development and revitalization of real property within the City continues, the opportunity for creation of cultural and artistic resources are diminished. As these opportunities are diminished and urbanization occurs, the need to develop alternative sources for cultural and artistic outlets to improve the environment, image and character of the community is increased. The fee is 1% on all applicable building permits for all new residential development projects of five or more units, and all commercial, industrial, and public building development projects, with a building valuation of $500,000 or more, with some exceptions per CCMC Section #15.06.120. The fee is used so that development of cultural and artistic assets are financed by those whose development and revitalization diminishes the availability of the community's resources for those opportunities and contributes to community urbanization. Public art benefits the City by introducing cultural identity, improving vitality, community well-being and aesthetic beautification. The increase in development generates additional residents and non resident workers who increase the need for public art to maintain the City's existing standards. Each new development pays its fair share of the fee based on the applicable building permit valuation, excluding land acquisition costs.

(C) Identify all sources and amounts of funding anticipated to complete financing in incomplete improvements identified in paragraph (2) of subdivision (a); and (D) Identify the approximate date on which the funding referred to in item C is expected to be deposited in the appropriate account or fund.
